Kindergarten to Grade 9 Focus on literacy and numeracy foundations and development. Alignment with Provincial Goals/Assurance Survey Results: Safe and Caring Schools, Citizenship, School Improvement Alignment with Division Priorities: Visible Learning, Inclusive Education, Student- Focused Learning, Relationships, Supportive Environment and Passion Increase staff efficacy to address diverse learning, social, emotional, and behavioral needs of our students.	It's really important that learning is visible, inclusive, and responsive so that every student understands what they are learning, why they are learning it, and how to show success. Aligning instructional practices with Visible Learning, Inclusive Education, and Student-Focused Learning ensures students feel safe, supported, and confident as learners. Strong relationships and a supportive environment are foundational to building literacy, numeracy, and learner readiness across Kindergarten to Grade 9.	An area of improvement is ensuring consistent learner readiness across all grades, particularly in foundational literacy and numeracy skills, while also addressing the diverse social, emotional, and behavioural needs of students. Data indicates variability in readiness levels, increased complexity of student needs, and a need for greater alignment in instructional and assessment practices across grade levels.	If we intentionally align instruction using Universal Design for Learning (UDL), assessment for/as learning, and evidence-informed practices, while strengthening staff capacity through targeted professional development and collaboration, we can better meet diverse learning needs. By embedding Collaborative & Proactive Solutions (CPS), strengthening (continue) literacy and numeracy screening and intervention, and using Visible Learning strategies, staff will be better equipped to respond proactively, appropriately and inclusively.	Students will demonstrate improved literacy and numeracy skills appropriate to their grade level  Clearly articulate learning intentions and success criteria  Take greater ownership of their learning and self-regulation  Engage positively in learning environments that feel safe, inclusive, and supportive  Build resilience, problem-solving skills, and positive relationships with peers and staff	MIPI, HLAT/FLAT, reader, and math screener data show growth over time  Classroom assessment data reflects increased student engagement and achievement  PAT results in literacy and numeracy demonstrate sustained improvement  Office referrals, suspensions, and behavioural incidents decrease  Assurance survey data reflects improved perceptions of safety, belonging, and student support  Teachers report increased confidence and efficacy in meeting diverse student needs	-Implement UDL, differentiated instruction, PBL, and effective questioning strategies across K-9  -Use assessment for/as/of learning to guide instruction and intervention  -Administer and analyze MIPI, HLAT/FLAT, literacy and numeracy screeners to inform teaching  -Continue Visible Learning professional development to align instructional practices and language  -Provide literacy and numeracy IST support and Learning -Common support blocks  -Support implementation of the new math curriculum through PD and non-consumable resources  -Strengthen teacher collaboration through grade-level teams,

Staff and Students Kindergarten to Grade 9	It's really important that Champs Vallée is a school where students and staff feel safe, valued, connected, and supported. Strong relationships and a supportive environment are essential to student well-being, engagement, and success. By prioritizing wellness, inclusion, and culturally responsive practices, we strengthen school culture and align with Division priorities focused on relationships, staff well-being, and professional growth.	An area of improvement is ensuring consistent and intentional implementation of wellness, inclusion, and social-emotional learning practices across all grades and settings. Increasing social, emotional, and mental health needs among students and staff highlight the need for coordinated supports, shared language, and proactive strategies that foster belonging, resilience, and positive relationships.	If we intentionally embed the Comprehensive School Health model, strengthen trauma-informed and culturally responsive practices, and provide ongoing professional development and collaborative supports for staff, and intentionally create space where these can be practiced, we can create a more inclusive and responsive school environment.
